Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Dream of Hell Neither Heaven nor Hell have geographical metes and bounds, but rather have they psychological boundaries which vary as the consciousness of individuals vary in their scope. Consciousness is the basic principle on which the worlds are built, since were it not for our own conscious existence, to us, there would be no worlds. In presenting a poem, of the character of the Dream of Hill, in an age when religion, and science both physical and metaphysical, are claiming so much of the attention of advanced thinkers, I must needs do it at the risk of having the poem variously interpreted. The thought world is today in the throes of a new birth. Time honored systems and stereotyped beliefs are crumbling to decay, while from the ash-heap of colossal superstition and intellectual pride is springing the primitive ideal of Peace on earth, good will toward men. The literalist will read my poem, and, perhaps, be terrified by the horribleness of the pictures with which it abounds, while the more liberal thinker will give it a freer interpretation, and see in the word-pictures only the bodying forth of the idea of retributive justice.
